THE

DUBLIN REVIEW.

77

VOL. XXV. NEW SERIES.

JULY—OCTOBER,

MDCCCLXXV.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,
SEP 17 1968

LONDON:
BURNS, OATES, & CO., 17 & 18, PORTMAN STREET,
AND 63, PATERNOSTER ROW.
DERBY: RICHARDSON & SONS.
DUBLIN: JAMES DUFFY; W. B. KELLY; McGLASHAN & GILL.
BALTIMORE: KELLY, PIET & CO.
MONTREAL, CANADA: D. & J. SADLER & CO.
1875.

LONDON
WYMAN AND SONS, PRINTERS, GREAT QUEEN STREET,
LINCOLN'S-INN FIELDS, W.C.

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—MODERN SOCIETY AND THE SACRED HEART.

The Modern Idea and the Christian Idea—Devotion to the Sacred Heart 3
The acceptance of an Idea results in a Philosophy of Life . . . 8
Strauss a seasonable exponent of the reigning Idea 11
Its fundamental doctrine, exclusive belief in the Universe—Affinities with Buddhism and Stoicism—Its consecration of the Darwinian theory 17
Its history of the changes on our own planet 20
Its interpretation of Christianity 23
The practical result for the mass of mankind—Strauss's description of it 27
Summing up of this part of the discussion 28
Signs of a Providential interference with the success of the Revolution—The consecration of the Church to the Sacred Heart . . 29
What is the meaning of devotion to the Heart of our Lord . . 31
The consolation which such a devotion must bring to the poor and uneducated 32
Its effects on the higher classes of society 33
Its means of achieving success, by doing away with coldness and disloyalty towards the Holy See—This asserted strongly in the Prayer of Consecration 37
The act of Consecration to the Sacred Heart 37

ART. II.—A REPLY TO TWO CRITICISMS.—CIVIL SOVEREIGNTY AND NECESSARY TRUTH.

The two criticisms to which we reply 39
Is the English Monarch de facto sovereign? 40
Is the English Monarch de jure sovereign? 43
The oath of allegiance. 44
Contrast between Catholic doctrine and Stuartism 45
Doctrine implied in Pius VII.'s coronation of Napoleon . . . 48
Charles X. and Louis Philippe 49
Letters on Necessary Truth 50
Our critic agrees with us in doctrine 52
His verbal difference from us 57
Concluding remarks 62

ART. III.—SECULARISM IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION.

An accurate knowledge of Catholic doctrine necessary to repel the attacks on the Catholic Church 63
Purely secular teaching undesirable 64
The Conscience Clause 67
Difficulty in satisfying the Inspector 70
The Agricultural Children Act 74
Power of the School Board over Voluntary Schools 75
Voluntary Contributions for Educational purposes 80
All Catholics should unite in resisting secularism 82

ART. IV.—THE PURPORT OF BISHOP FESSLER'S TREATISE.

The strange theory, that Bishop Fessler's treatise is partly directed against a supposed Catholic ultra party 83
Bishop Fessler's doctrine on the Pope's infallibility in pronouncing minor doctrinal censures 86
Bishop Fessler's doctrine on the Pope's infallibility in defining non-revealed doctrines which concern faith or morals 89
Bishop Fessler's doctrine on the conditions of an ex-cathedrâ Act . 91
Bishop Fessler's doctrine on the frequency of ex-cathedrâ Acts . . 92
Extraordinary notions of F. Gratry on the supposed doctrine of certain imaginary Catholics 100
Identity between Bishop Fessler's exposition of the Vatican Definition and the exposition given in the DUBLIN REVIEW 102
Bishop Fessler nowhere supposes the existence of Catholics who differ from himself in their exposition of the Vatican Definition . . 105

ART. V.—PRINCE BISMARCK'S SPEECHES.

The Franco-Austrian War the prelude to the Franco-Prussian . . 106
Bismarck becomes prime minister of Prussia 107
Value of the volume under review 108
Bismarck's quarrel with the Chamber of Deputies 110
His speeches on the Polish question 112
The change his political views have undergone since he began his career as a statesman 114
The Schleswig-Holstein question 117
Carelessness of the Austrian Ministry 120
Success of Prussia in the Seven Weeks' War 122

The Bill of Indemnity 123
Liberty of Speech in the Prussian Chambers 125
The Key-note of Bismarck's policy 126
His guiding principle 128
His persecution of the Church 129
His inability to supply proofs of his charges 132
The utter failure of his policy 133

ART. VI.—F. DUMAS ON THE SYLLABUS.

Introductory remarks 134
F. Dumas on the ex cathedrâ character of the Syllabus 136

ART. VII.—AN EXAMINATION OF MR. HERBERT SPENCER'S PSYCHOLOGY. PART. II.

The Composition of Mind 143
The Relativity of Feelings and of the relations between them . . 153
The Revivability of Feelings and of the relations between them . . 164
The Associability of Feelings and of the relations between them . 166
Pleasures and Pains 167
Summary of the second part of the Psychology 169
Retrospect of the first two parts of the Psychology 170

ART. VIII.—F. COLERIDGE ON THE GOSPELS.

Great value of F. Coleridge's book 173
The Incarnate God, not only lived and died for man, but has left an authentic record of His human acts and words 173
Inestimable advantage of this 174
F. Coleridge's commentary is based on the only true foundation . . 176
His frequent and appropriate introduction of ascetical comments . 177
His work a "summa theologiæ" for ordinary Christians . . . 178
His study of Protestant writers 180
His great success in tracing the thread of our Lord's discourses . 180
His acquaintance with illustrative facts of contemporary Palestine . 181
His picturesqueness 181
Controversial advantages of his book 182
Stress laid by him on the chronological order of events . . . 183
Internal evidence of truth derivable from study of the Gospels . . 183
The form into which F. Coleridge has thrown his book . . . 185

ART. IX.—THE EUROPEAN SITUATION.

The doctrine of Non-Intervention 189
England's Naval Power 190
England's general capacity for war 192
Prussia's next war with France 193
M. Emile de Laveleye on the triumph of Ultramontanism 194
Prince Bismarck's relations with the Revolution and with Liberalism . 195
How he has used the Revolutionary and Liberal parties in France, Austria, Belgium, and England 196
The state of France 198
The follies of the Legitimist party during the last two years . . 199
They are the real authors of the Republic 201
Rapid recovery of the power of France 201

CATHOLIC LIBERALISM 202

NOTICES OF BOOKS.

Dr. Fessler's True and False Infallibility of the Popes . . . 219
Bishop Hedley's The Spirit of Faith 219
Mgr. Ferré's S. Thomas of Aquin and Ideology 223
Rev. F. Harper's Peace through the Truth 228
Rev. F. Morris's The Troubles of our Catholic Forefathers . . . 233
Dr. Rosmini's Catechism of Christian Doctrine according to order of Ideas 236
Remarks on a late Assailant of the Society of Jesus 238
De Romani Pontificé inferendâ infra hæresim censurâ infallibili judicis 239
Mrs. Augustus Craven's Story of a Soul 239
Mr. Theodore Galton's English Men of Science 243
Professor Blackie's Horæ Hellenicæ 245
Lady G. Fullerton's Life of F. Henry Young 249
Organum Comitans ad Graduale Romanum 251
Rev. F. Bayonne's Vie de S. Catherine de Ricci 252
Rev. F. Coleridge's Story of S. Stanislaus Kostka 258
Life of Rev. F. Bernard, C.S.S.R. 259
Mr. Cavanagh's The Great Land Question 262
Rev. E. F. Hewit's The King's Highway 263
Archbishop of Perga's The Eucharist and the Christian Life . . 264
Rev. A. Lambing's The Orphan's Friend 266
Mr. Lee Silloby's Which is Right? 267
Miss Stewart's Margaret Roper 269